15. Cart (noindex)

<https://mariotstore.com/en/cart>

The cart is a slide-out drawer; this route only redirects into it. It previously had no tags at all and rendered under the homepage title. It now carries its own tags and is excluded from the index — there is no content to rank and the destination differs per visitor.

<title>Your Cart | Mariot Store</title>

<meta name="description" content="Review the kitchen equipment in your cart, update quantities, and check out or download a quotation.">
<meta name="robots" content="noindex, follow">

Also noindex — account and transactional routes: `/checkout` , `/checkoutsuccess` , `/profile` , `/signin` , `/signup` , `/forgot-password` , `/reset-password` , `/sellerDashboard` .

16. Admin Dashboard (noindex)

<https://mariotstore.com/{locale}/admin/>*

All staff-only screens — analytics, orders, products, brands, categories, coupons, invoices, quotations, reviews, users, settings, CMS and SEO. These declared no metadata of their own, so they were advertised to crawlers under the storefront title with a canonical pointing at the public homepage. A single layout now covers the whole subtree, so any new admin screen is excluded by default.

Dynamic Tags — Product Pages

<https://mariotstore.com/{locale}/product/{slug}>

Product pages generate their tags per product at request time, from the live product record fetched by slug (cached 5 minutes). Arabic fields are used automatically when the locale is `ar` and the translated field exists.

Template
